Alice Mayo Society Timeline

Throughout its history, AMS enriches the lives of Mayo Clinic families, celebrating its legacy while embracing the future.

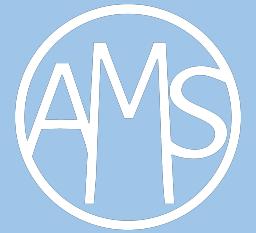

The Magazine Club was founded in 1911 with the help of Hattie and Edith Mayo to facilitate social interaction and promote a sense of connection. What began with 23 women meeting weekly quickly became a valued part of the clinic's community.

The Magazine Club expands to meet at the Mayo Foundation House and diversifies its activities with sections for sewing, reading, music, and drama, enriching the social and cultural life of AMS members.

In 1968, the society was renamed the Alice Mayo Society in honor of Alice Mayo's legacy of hospitality. With over 500 members, AMS hosts coffees, teas, and sectionals, while the Fellow Wives Club welcomes new residents and fellows.

The Alice Mayo Society evolves with the times, offering wellness and personal development initiatives to continue supporting Mayo Clinic spouses and families.

The Alice Mayo Society embraces technology with email listservs and online forums, while deepening its community impact through partnerships with local nonprofits and charitable initiatives. MFC extends this support to partners of residents, fellows, graduate students, and medical students.
